TERMS AND CONDITIONS IGR. This certificate is not a guarantee or warranty of the quality of the jewellery, nor is it a valuation. It sets out the characteristics of the jewellery at the date of examination and is the opinion of a professional grader, based on the techniques available at the time of the examination. The formation of the opinion is not an exact science and the results of any other examination may differ. IGR Ltd disclaims any liability for any grading differences that may result from the application of other grading techniques. Please also note, grading is approximate in mounted settings and any enhancements or treatments cannot be detected in a mounted setting.
